

Johnson Hard At Work On '66 Budget Review

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The LBJ Ranch was bedecked with Christmas trimmings today—the usual decorative kind plus President Johnson's budgetary variety.

While Lady Bird Johnson was putting pine cones on the mantel and daughters Lyndia Bird and Luci decorated a Christmas tree, the President was hard at work on next year's federal spending program.

The big goal at this year-end phase of his budget review still was to decide how and where to cut governmental costs to meet rising expenses of the Vietnamese war.

Johnson concentrated Wednesday on military spending, via a telephone talk with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, and on written reports of "budget problems on health and education matters."

The Johnson daughters gave a "surprise" birthday dinner for their mother, whose 53rd birthday Wednesday provided pre-Christmas festivity. Johnson gave his wife a special gift, which she said was "private."

But Mrs. Johnson spent much of her day with intensive Christmas preparations. "What else does one do when one's birthday is on Dec. 22?" she was quoted as asking her press secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter.

No Peace Talk Hope Seen In Viet Nam Cease-Fire

Holiday To Bring Spurt In Travel

By United Press International
Michigan residents prepared today for Christmas celebrations ranging from trips on the highway to a quiet seat by the home hearth.

A record travel volume was anticipated. The Michigan Sheriff's Association warned that all signs indicated traffic deaths in the state would top the toll of 38 recorded during last year's Christmas period.

The official holiday period during which traffic deaths will be compiled begins at 6 p.m. tonight and ends at midnight Sunday.

The Automobile Club of Michigan said travel from Detroit would be up at least 20 per cent compared with last year. Friday will be the day of heaviest traffic, the club said.

Airlines, railroads and bus companies reported peak reservation bookings. Most holiday flights were booked up. Greyhound added 100 buses a day today and Friday to its normal Detroit departure schedule. Airlines added extra flights to absorb the holiday crush.

North Central Airlines reported its bookings were up 25 per cent from last year for flights to Michigan cities and to Cleveland, Ohio, and Green Bay, Wis.

Many Michigan servicemen planned to return home for the holidays. Two hundred special buses were enroute to Michigan today from Fort Knox, Ky. Fifty special Christmas buses from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., already have arrived.

A touch of warmth from home also reached thousands of Michigan servicemen in Viet Nam. The Army was busy today distributing 7,600 gift packages, each individually addressed and labeled "Seasons Greetings from the People of Michigan."

The gifts were collected, wrapped and shipped in a rush volunteer job coordinated by Gov. George Romney.

Romney planned to spend today in Detroit, shaking hands with passersby downtown and personally extending Christmas greetings.

The governor said he planned to spend Christmas Eve and Christmas with his family at their home in Bloomfield Hills, a Detroit suburb. Gov. and Mrs. Romney prepared the home for a Christmas visit from two sons, one of their two married daughters and a total of six grandchildren.

Red Guerrillas May Disregard 30-Hour Lull

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials, with bitter memories of the bloody end of similar "pauses" in the past, maintained an attitude of watchful caution today toward the Christmas cease-fire in Viet Nam.

The 30-hour lull in the fighting ordered by U.S. and South Vietnamese military commanders, though it presumably extended to American bombing raids on North Viet Nam, was not regarded here as any kind of opening wedge for peace talks.

Washington Skeptical
Rather, officials were warning against what they considered false hopes for a widening of the truce at this time. For one thing, there was no evidence of the Viet Cong guerrillas would respect the cease-fire.

Washington has been leery of such combat lulls since last February, when an informal pause in the fighting during the Vietnamese new year was abruptly terminated by a surprise Viet Cong attack on U.S. installations at Pleiku.

When the National Liberation Front, the Viet Cong's political arm, broadcast an offer of a 12-hour cease-fire earlier this month, U.S. officials at first displayed little interest in the proposal.

Pope's Appeal Noted
As late as Tuesday, a U.S. military spokesman in Saigon was saying that as far as he knew Christmas would "just like any other day" on the Viet Nam battlefield.

The decision of policymakers to take a second look at the idea of a Christmas truce appeared to be promoted, at least in part, by the public appeal of Pope Paul VI for acceptance of the Communist offer. The pontiff said last weekend that even a brief truce conceivably could become the prelude to peace negotiations.

The cease-fire finally decided upon was not the 12-hour offer the Viet Cong made. The lull was extended to 30 hours and the Communist proviso that American and South Vietnamese troops lay down their arms was ignored.

SHOOT IF FIRED ON
SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. and South Vietnamese military leaders, ignoring any mention of the Communist proposal for a 12-hour Christmas truce, announced today allied guns would be silent for a 30-hour yuletide period.

The statement emphasized that U.S. and government forces would shoot if fired on, however. The cease-fire will be effective from 6 p.m. Dec. 24 to midnight Dec. 25, (5 a.m. EST Dec. 24 to 11 a.m. Christmas Day.)

The communique was issued by the Military Assistance Command, Viet Nam (MACV) and authorized by the U.S. commander, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, and his South Vietnamese counterpart, Lt. Gen. Cao Van Vien, chief of the general staff.

CURFEW LIFTED
SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. military Command announced today the recent dusk-to-dawn curfew imposed on American soldiers in Saigon will be lifted Christmas Day.

The 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew was imposed last Saturday to keep Americans off the streets of the capital during a new wave of terrorist activities.

The spokesman said the curfew would end at 6 a.m. Christmas Day. American servicemen then will be governed by the normal midnight to 4 a.m. curfew imposed on everyone residing in Saigon.

Police Helper Slain In Error

FLINT (UPI) — A volunteer police "helper" was mistaken for a bandit Wednesday and was shot and killed by a policeman.

Police withheld information on the shooting for nearly eight hours, refusing even to disclose the victim's name.

Capt. Robert Corrington, chief of detectives, said officer Henry Klock killed William Argetsinger, 20, with a blast from a 12 gauge riot gun.

Corrington said Argetsinger burst from the rear room of a darkened restaurant into the front just as Klock and patrolman Wolfgang Bauer broke into the front door to investigate a break-in.

Argetsinger's revolver was pointed at the policemen, Corrington said. Ironically, it was a blank gun incapable of firing bullets.

Bauer dove behind the bar but Klock fired once with his riot gun, then dove to the sidewalk.

The blast killed Argetsinger, who lived across the street. He came to help police after telephoning them when a barmaid awakened him and told him she had fled the closed restaurant when she heard glass breaking at the building's rear.

Corrington said officers asked Argetsinger to stay out of the way but he apparently snuck into the restaurant's rear.

Eight youths including four juveniles were arrested in connection with the break-in.

Three More US Planes Downed By Communists

SAIGON (UPI) — Three more U.S. planes were shot down over Communist North Viet Nam Wednesday, but returning pilots revealed today that the Uong Bi power plant serving the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial heartland was wiped off the map.

One of the planes—Navy aircraft from 7th Fleet carriers—was hit by a Soviet-supplied surface-to-air "SAM" missile. The others were shot down by conventional anti-aircraft fire.

It brought to 11 the number of American planes lost in almost continuous raids this week on the Communist North.

The Uong Bi power plant, 14 miles northeast of the key port of Haiphong, supplied about 15 per cent of the country's power.

Four Missing
Four crewmen were aboard the three planes lost and only two were known to have parachuted. The aircraft were two A4 Skyhawks, each with a single pilot, and a two-man RASC reconnaissance bomber.

The area itself has been hit five times. U.S. planes first bombed the Uong Bi facility last Friday in an escalation of the air war.

Returning pilots from Wednesday's raid said fires raged throughout the plant and its buildings and heavy equipment were reduced to rubble.

The SAM rocket struck the RASC, a U.S. spokesman said. The airman who parachuted drifted down over the Haiphong port area itself. No rescue operations were launched.

Reds Sent Reeling
In other action, a platoon-sized patrol of tough U.S. Special Forces men took on an estimated Communist battalion near the North Vietnamese border and sent them reeling in defeat, it was disclosed today.

The action took place Wednesday 400 miles north of Saigon in Quang Tri Province. A U.S. platoon numbers about 44 men while a Communist battalion is upwards of 600 soldiers.

A U.S. spokesman said 25 Communists were known killed by the Special Forces troops from the Khe Sanh outpost, who also took large quantities of ammunition and equipment when the Viet Cong fled. American casualties were described as "light."

California Hit By Cold Snap

By United Press International
While most of the East and Midwest enjoyed unseasonably warm weather today, California and parts of the Southwest were hit by a cold snap.

Valley area residents in Northern California witnessed rare snowfalls from Bakersfield to Stockton Wednesday. Fresno had its first snow in three years and its first December snowfall since 1932.

A snow storm spread through the Rockies early today. More than 16 inches covered the ground at Flagstaff, Ariz. Three inches fell at Casper, Wyo., in six hours. Flash flooding was reported in central Arizona because of melting snow in combination with heavy rains.

Skies were bright and the weather was mild throughout the Midwest and East. The temperature just after midnight at St. Louis was 53, nine degrees warmer than San Francisco.

Cardinal Visits Vietnam Front

SAIGON (UPI) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, perspiration trickling down his cheeks, arrived in Viet Nam today on his annual Christmas visit to the troops.

The American prelate stepped off his commercial jetliner after a two-day trip from New York a few hours after the U.S.-Viet Nam military command announced the 30-hour Christmas cease-fire in the Southeast Asian war.

He said he came to Viet Nam to demonstrate his loyalty to America's war effort. "It is my country right or wrong," the 77-year-old prince of the Roman Catholic Church declared.

The cardinal arrived at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport and walked unassisted down the steps from the plane and out into the hot tropical sun baking the field.

Asked the reason for his visit, he said: "I want to show my loyalty to what America is doing," he answered. "There is no American soldier in Viet Nam who does not want peace."

"I fully support my country and I pray it will always be right, but it is my country right or wrong."

Detroit, 72, Slugs Gunman In Store Holdup

DETROIT (UPI) — A 16-year-old gunman is safely in police custody today thanks to a 72-year-old man who wasn't afraid to take a poke at him.

The gunman, identified as Paul Smith, allegedly walked into a local supermarket Wednesday night and threatened the owner. The owners father, Frank Zelawski, 72, walked up to the bandit and slugged him.

As Smith turned to attack Zelawski, his son hit the man over the head with a bottle and the two wrestled him to the floor until help arrived.

Police said Smith was also held in connection with another armed robbery of a drug store only minutes before.

Spacemen Tell Story Of Their 206 Sky Orbits

SEABROOK, Tex. (UPI) — Frank Borman and James Lovell told it to their ground crew today—the story of their 206 space orbits in Gemini 7 and the unprecedented visit at close quarters of another spaceship.

The two astronauts came home Wednesday for "debriefings" to space officials and the Christmas holidays at home.

"You are a pretty stranger," Marilyn Lovell told her husband before the welcome-back kiss.

Borman smiled at the welcoming crowd and said, "I'm going home to see if everything looks the same."

It did not. When the two astronauts flew to Cape Kennedy to get ready for their flight, Thanksgiving leftovers were barely cleaned up.

Now, their children and wives have decorated their homes for Christmas—plus a bit of family pride, a "welcome home" banner on the Lovell home.

They will try to grab some quiet moments with their families during the Christmas season. The "debriefings" in which they tell all they can remember about their flight to the ground crews at the Manned Spacecraft Center, will be over by Saturday and the astronauts can enjoy a family Christmas.

Next week, the long account in person of their flight will resume.

Caustic Critic Of Pentagon, Gen. White Dies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Thomas D. White, whose caustic criticism nettled civilian defense officials after his retirement as Air Force chief of staff in 1961, died Wednesday night at Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

White, 64, an intelligence specialist and pilot, had been hospitalized for treatment of leukemia for several months.

In 1957, the four-star general capped a highly successful military career when he was named chief of staff by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He retired June 30, 1961, six months after the late President John F. Kennedy installed Robert S. McNamara as Defense Secretary. It was after that White became active as a writer on defense affairs.

White was openly critical of some of McNamara's policies and the civilian "eggheads" the defense secretary had brought into the Pentagon.

He referred to them as "termites" in one magazine article, and charged that their "fuzzy, innocent and naive" thinking had been substituted for that of experienced military men in making critical defense decisions.

The general is survived by his widow, the former Constance Row of London, England, a daughter and a sister. Services will be Tuesday in Washington National Cathedral with burial at Arlington National Cemetery.

GOP Pow Wow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — GOP organization leaders will gather in Washington next month for four days of meetings to prepare for the 1966 state and congressional election campaigns, Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss said today.

Republican state chairmen will meet first Jan. 29. They also have been invited to attend the GOP National Committee meeting to be held Jan. 31-Feb. 1. In addition, the GOP Finance Committee plans a meeting and state finance chairmen will attend a "school" on new fundraising techniques.

Districting Plans Up For Discussion

LANSING (UPI) — State apportionment commissioners, perplexed by a Jan. 1 deadline and longings to be home for Christmas and New Year's, hoped today to put the last of proposed redistricting plans on the table for discussion.

Nine plans and various amendments to them are already before the commission, which has just nine more days in which to comply with an order of the State Supreme Court to draw new districts to replace the present "one man, one vote" plan.

Wednesday, Republicans attempted to amend a Democratic senate plan, a Republican senate plan, and a Democratic house plan; while Democrats submitted revisions for one of their house plans and tried to persuade Republicans to settle for minor revisions in the current apportionment.

Store Customer Hit By Gunshot In Flint Holdup

FLINT (UPI) — A customer in a Flint grocery store was wounded by a shotgun blast and two other persons clubbed Wednesday night during a holdup.

Two men, one armed with a pistol and the other with a shotgun, escaped with $3,200 in cash and checks.

Jesse Rouse, 38, Mount Morris, was wounded by shotgun pellets in the face when one of the robbers blasted away, creating a six-foot wide hole in the store window behind Rouse.

The robber also clubbed store owner Peter Zubach and another customer, Robert Bristol, Mount Morris.

Rouse was taken to Hurley Hospital with a skull fracture. The other two suffered only minor injuries.

Truce Comment

LONDON (UPI) — The Christmas truce in Viet Nam made headlines today in the London evening newspapers.

The Evening Standard recalled the Viet Cong has proposed the temporary truce and said America's decision to accept it "is obviously, in part, a guarded test of the good faith of the Communists."

Social Security Beneficiary Is Honored At 100

An Upper Peninsula man who celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary this month is distinguished for another reason as well—he has been receiving Social Security benefits for the past 23 years.

William Mosley, a resident of the Lakeland Rest Home at McMillan in Luce County, has received a personal greeting from Victor Christgau, Washington, D. C., the Social Security Administration director.

The greetings were brought to Mr. Mosley by Joseph Heller, Escanaba, field representative for Social Security in this area.

"He is really amazing," Heller said of Mr. Mosley. "He is hard of hearing and he has some trouble in getting around, but I would say his health is pretty good considering his age."

Born in Greenup County, Ky., on Dec. 16, 1865, (the year President Lincoln was assassinated) Mosley came to the Upper Peninsula about 35 or 40 years ago. He has lived in Gladstone, Gould City, St. Ignace, Forsythe and Little Lake.

He returned to Ohio and Kentucky for employment along the Ohio River from time to time and it was there he earned his social security by driving team for river barg-es. Social Security began paying monthly benefits 25 years ago. "Bill" Mosley has been receiving them for 23 years.

At the time Mosley earned his Social Security credit, very little work was required to be eligible for a benefit, but even so, many people were not able to work enough to receive a benefit, it was explained.

Recent changes in the Social Security law have reduced the credits necessary for people past 72 to less than was necessary back in 1943 when Mosley filed for benefits, said Arnold T. Williams, district manager of the Social Security Administration in Escanaba.

Persons over 72 and not receiving benefits should contact the Social Security office to determine if they might qualify for this special benefit, Williams suggested.

Social Security records are confidential, but Mr. Mosley consented to the use of his story so that others might learn about the change in the Social Security law, Williams said.

Train Derailed, Trucker Killed And 40 Injured

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — One man was killed and about 40 other persons were injured Wednesday in the collision of a truck and "The San Diego" passenger train. Seven of the train's cars were derailed.

Authorities said at least 28 of the victims required hospitalization. One of these, Dolores J. Vallegos, 22 of Walsenburg, Colo., was reported in serious condition.

The injured were taken to various Orange County hospitals. Others were treated at the scene.

Police said the driver of the heavy gravel truck was killed in the collision. He was identified as Bernard F. Lenfranco, 21, of Anaheim. His 10-ton truck was carrying a 15-ton load, authorities said.

The 10-car train, including two diesel engines, was carrying 200 persons from Los Angeles to San Diego when the accident occurred at a highway crossing. Some of the passengers were visitors from the East and Midwest.

Both engines were overturned by the impact and one passenger car lay on its side. Others were tilted at crazy angles.

Investigations worked through the night trying to determine exactly how the collision occurred. Police said the train hit the truck.

They said visibility was good and a warning signal at the crossing was working at the time. There was no barrier at the crossing.

Train Conductor W. P. O'Hara of Los Angeles told police the train was traveling about 45 mph.

Nine On List For State Post

LANSING (UPI) — The State Board of Education has narrowed its list of candidates for Superintendent of Public Instruction to nine, it was revealed Wednesday.

State Board President Thomas J. Brennan said a "Special Selection Committee" traveled to Washington with 16 names under consideration last week. During the visit the list was pared to six, but three more names were added after recommendations by federal officials, he said.

The selection committee, composed of four board members, met in Washington with Frances Keppel, then U.S. Commissioner of Education, and his top assistants.

Keppel was appointed assistant secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare by President Johnson on the day after the meeting. Howard Howe II was named to succeed Keppel.

The committee was formed six months ago to nominate a successor for Dr. Lynn Bartlett, who resigned as superintendent of instruction to accept a federal post. Alexander Kloster is serving as acting superintendent in the interim.

Wednesday also marked the first birthday of the eight-member education board, and Brennan used the occasion to review the board's accomplishments.

"The most significant achievement of the new state board in its first year in existence undoubtedly was the reorganization creating the enlarged State Department of Education, bringing together the state library, the Higher Education Assistance Authority, the Higher Education Facilities Commission, the Tenure Commission, and the Department of Public Instruction," he said.

Hospital X-Ray School Approved

Dr. N. J. Theisen, director of the St. Francis Hospital Department of Radiology, has been informed by the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association that the St. Francis Hospital School of X-Ray Technology has been fully approved.

The accreditation report states: "The Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association, at its meeting on Nov. 28, concurred with the recommendation of the Committee on Technician Training of the American College of Radiology, that the School of X-Ray Technology of St. Francis Hospital be approved for the training of two students for one year or a total of four students for the two-year training program."

The American College of Radiology recommended that the approval be made retroactive to 1964; therefore, the present students will have completed the program in an approved school. On Jan. 14, 1966, Clifford White will be the first graduate from the approved school. Graduates of the program will be entitled to write the National Registry Examination.

Students in the X-Ray School

have been taking their anatomy and physiology courses at Bay de Noc Community College, and this will be a continued requirement of the school. A brochure explaining the entrance requirements and the curriculum is being prepared under the direction of Doctor Theisen for publication. Some of the basic entrance requirements must be that applicants must be at least 18 years of age, must have a high school diploma, and must show an aptitude in the natural sciences. One of the nationally accepted aptitude tests will be administered by Bay de Noc College to applicants for the Hospital X-Ray School.

The St. Francis Hospital X-Ray Technology program is only the second approved program in the Upper Peninsula, the other being at St. Luke's Hospital, Marquette. "The hospital feels that this program will fill another much-needed educational opportunity to residents of the Upper Peninsula," said Sister M. Hildegard, administrator.

Jacobson Family Buys Ford Fund Baraga Timber

Albin G. Jacobson of Baraga, representing the Area Redevelopment Administration on a project, said A. G. Jacobson "but the ARA ran out of funds. We have not given up hope of doing something under the new Economic Development Act, but its guidelines have not been written yet. All of the Ford Fund acquisition was financed privately by our family."

Native Of Ironwood
"It's a very nice property—mostly hardwoods—and we're happy with it."

In the 1962 project at Gladstone Jacobson sought a $650,000 loan from ARA to establish docks and other facilities for the receiving and processing of Philippine mahogany.

A native of Ironwood, Jacobson was president of the Lian-ga Bay Logging Co. of Manila, which had cutting rights on 300,000 acres of Philippine forest containing more than 2 billion feet of timber. He sold this firm to Georgia-Pacific Plywood Corp. several years ago and returned to the northwestern Great Lakes States to set up a wood industry here.

Employing 100
The Bay field plant of All-Wood employs more than 100 persons in the manufacture of wood specialties from plywood and lumber like radio and television cabinets, kitchen doors, and other processed wood products. It has been buying its veneers and lumber and part of the wood from the newly acquired Ford lands between L'Anse and Marquette will go to Bayfield for manufacture.

A. G. Jacobson said today that his son was starting logging operations in the former Ford lands in a small way. He said that All-Wood was interested in more timberland acquisitions in the area.

Upgrade Airport, FAA Suggests

The Escanaba Municipal airport was one of 12 Upper Peninsula sites recommended for improvement by the Federal Aviation Agency in its annual five-year forecast of airport needs.

The agency proposed construction of 887 landing facilities and improvements at 3,219 other airports throughout the United States. New airports for Detroit and Millington were among 80 Michigan improvements estimated to cost $30,402,000.

No specific recommendations were made for the Escanaba airport.

Other U.P. airports recommended for improvement were Crystal Falls, Houghton, Iron Mountain, Ironwood, Marquette, Menominee, Newberry, Ontonagon, St. Ignace, Sault Ste. Marie and Mackinac Island.

The FAA said its projections were based on a predicted increase in both airline traffic and private aviation. The entire program was estimated to cost $1.28 billion.

A local bid for financing of improvements at the Escanaba Airport was defeated by Delta County voters earlier this month. Had a proposal by the Board of Supervisors asking two mills for one year been approved, a $521,000 improvement program would have been launched. Local share of about $152,000 would have been supplemented by state and federal funds.

Included in the proposed improvements here are a new terminal building and runway extensions to provide landing-length for possible North Central jet service.

The question of local financing for the airport is expected to now be brought to the Escanaba City Council after a recommendation from the Airport Study Committee that Escanaba "go ahead" on its own.

Christmas Day To Have Cloudy, Colder Weather

Christmas Day, that brightest and happiest holiday of the year, will in Michigan be accompanied by chill winds and overcast skies, the Weather Bureau reports.

For those who plan to travel, traffic officers had a word of caution: Highways could be treacherously slippery throughout the Northern Michigan region on the holiday weekend. Lower temperatures and moisture could coat road surfaces with ice.

Better check in advance for road conditions in the area you plan to visit, they suggested. Both the State Police and the Highway Department issue road condition reports.

Fog greeted Michigan residents early today and skies weren't scheduled to be anything but cloudy over the entire state, according to the weatherman.

Portions of central and western Upper Michigan experienced some freezing rain and drizzle early today, but with rising temperatures that just changed to rain which was scheduled to continue all day.

The low temperature around the state Wednesday was only 32 and highs today were scheduled to range into the 50s in the far south and into the 40s in the U. P.

The light rain and drizzle was scheduled to continue to night and into Friday with tonight's lows dropping to around 40 in the south and the mid 30s in the north.

The outlook for Saturday, Christmas Day, was for cloudy skies and a cold trend.

The record high for today in Michigan was set in 1893 when it hit a pleasant 56 while the record low was recorded in 1960 at 5 below zero.

Paul Vardigan, acting recreation director, said that city skating rinks and the Danforth ski hill will not be ready for holiday use.

"Even if it turns cold, you have to have a week of cold weather to build up ice," he said. "You also have to have several days of snow to build up a base for skiing."

Meanwhile, Mary L. Wagner, clerk of the local Selective Service office, 1103 Ludington St., announced it would be closed Friday.

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission store, 816 Ludington, will remain open Friday from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., for retail sales only. The store will also be open Friday, Dec. 31.

Gladstone Is Moving

The Gladstone Industrial Park has a new look. Decrepit old buildings of the Atlas Plywood Corp. have been removed to make sites available for industrial plants.

The visit of a group of Detroit industrial realtors to this area last summer took them to Gladstone for an inspection of its offerings to industry and resulted in a recommendation. They suggested that the City Commission remove old buildings from the Industrial Park; that industry would be much more interested in a good site on which to build than in an old building which would have to be extensively remodeled or removed before building of a new structure could start.

They spoke with the voice of experience. They are paid for helping industry find plant locations and plant buildings. Gladstone harkened and the buildings in the Industrial Park which were beyond economic rehabilitation have come down. The change has given a new attraction to the area and should speed its usage.

Marble Arms is constructing a $300,000 building in the Park and when inquiries revealed that water pressure there was below minimum safety standards to assure low fire insurance rates, the City Commission was told. Reacting quickly the Commission engaged Williams & Works, the consulting engineers, to make a study of water supply, sewerage, access roads and other needs of the Industrial Park.

This is planning in the modern manner, looking at what Gladstone has to offer to industry with the eyes of industry. It is in contrast (no vision like rear-view vision) with the enormous good will of the community expressed some years ago in a great work bee that cleaned, rehabilitated and reglazed the old buildings. With disuse, the glazing disappeared again and the deterioration of idleness was renewed.

With its new planning for the interests of its clients in the Industrial Park—assured water pressure for low insurance rates, sewerage, roads, utility services—Gladstone should become a happy landlord.

It occurs to us that Gladstone, with its unusually ample and attractive shoreline on Little Bay de Noc, may be selling itself short with devotion of shore area in the Industrial Park to usages which cannot make an asset of the handsome waterfront across to the Stonington Peninsula.

Escanaba did this with the site for the new county jail. The jail occupies one of the most scenic sites in the city and it is a "blind" building, with no view of the bay, although it is on it. Visitors ask "Why did you do that?"

Planning for industrial sites isn't what it used to be. Many firms want their plants in attractive areas and there's no strong reason for not having them so located because they bring no problems of smoke nuisance, wastes, heavy traffic, or smells to their plant sites.

When wood industry took over the shoreline at the old Buckeye site in Gladstone it was doing what came naturally, not only in Gladstone, but throughout the Lake States. Industry settled on the shoreline and expanded inland. Wood industry used its waterfront location to bring in its materials and ship out its products. In a later period many industries set up on waterfront sites because they were just keeping an industrial site tradition and not because they drew any advantage from it. By their usage of it they were denying entry to other enterprises which could use the waterfront to great advantage.

It is the function of good planning to break this chain of usage when it has outlived its usefulness and to devote the site to the best land usage. Gladstone has this opportunity. It has invested $60,000 in its Industrial Park and this may seem a large sum for the small return to date, but it keeps an asset of great potential worth to the community's growth and is moving to upgrade it.

The Doctor Says:

Pleurisy Can Run On

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—I have had pleurisy with effusion since May. What is the best treatment and how long will it last?

A—Inflammation of the pleura or outer lining of your lungs is more likely to be due to worry or not relaxing completely than to the necessity of getting up to empty your bladder. Some men take sleeping pills to help them get back to sleep but this is not advisable. It has the disadvantages that it does not relieve the cause, may become a habit that is hard to break and is often detrimental to the health.

Q—My doctor prescribed Aludrox three years ago for a duodenal ulcer. I've been taking it ever since. What are the best times of day to take this medicine? Are there any side effects from its prolonged use?

A—Aludrox is a combination of aluminum hydroxide and magnesium hydroxide. Although it can be taken any time of the day it is usually given between meals and at bedtime. There are no side effects from prolonged use in the prescribed dosage but, since with the proper treatment a duodenal ulcer will heal in a few weeks you should not have to take it indefinitely.

Q—Although I have to get up two or three times every night to urinate, my doctor insists that I do not have an enlarged prostate. He says that most men over 50 have this complaint and learn to live with it. He recommends only that I refrain from drinking liquids after supper and that I take a hot sitz bath before I go to bed. What do you advise?

A—Your doctor is right. Curtailing your evening fluid intake, especially of coffee, tea and cola drinks may be helpful but many men drink freely at bedtime because they have learned to go to sleep again promptly after each nightly interruption of their sleep.

Failure to go to sleep again is more likely to be due to worry or not relaxing completely than to the necessity of getting up to empty your bladder. Some men take sleeping pills to help them get back to sleep but this is not advisable. It has the disadvantages that it does not relieve the cause, may become a habit that is hard to break and is often detrimental to the health.

Q—Is there any risk of getting dangerous radiations from being near a person who is taking treatments with radioactive cobalt?

A—No. Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

St. Joseph Man Robs Stepfather

ZEELAND (UPI) — Zeeland Police Chief Lawrence Veldheer Wednesday apprehended Edward Todd, 28, of St. Joseph, who allegedly stole a truck, $5,088.88, two bottles of whisky and four cartons of cigarettes from his stepfather.

The stepfather, Paul Suchowski, operates the West Michigan Wholesale Co. in St. Joseph and reported the thefts after which a state-wide police alert was issued.

Todd was taken in custody in the truck on M 21 near Zeeland by the police chief who heard the police broadcast. The money and other items were found in the truck.

Ho Asks Much

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If Ho Chi Minh's peace "offer" has been accurately reported, it contains six hooks aimed at delivering South Viet Nam over to the Communists. The catch lies in Ho's reported insistence that the United States agree in advance to Ho's "four points" which he claims are merely an "explanation" of the 1954 Geneva Agreement.

But Ho's four points are NOT just an explanation of Geneva. Hidden in these points is a carefully written phrase which would have the United States agree in advance of negotiations that South Viet Nam's "internal affairs be run in accordance with the program of the National Liberation Front."

This liberation front program calls for abolishing the Saigon government and forming a "national coalition government" with Viet Cong in key agencies (known to be defense, foreign affairs, information, economics and police).

The front program calls for reorganizing the South Viet Nam army in accord with criteria set by the Viet Cong (including VC in key military posts).

Here again Ho asks the United States to write him a blank check.

The front program calls for autonomous governments to be set up in areas controlled by the VC in South Viet Nam. (They'd be largely independent of the South Viet Nam government.)

Ho's program specifies elections on unification with no supervision from outside countries or organizations, which would mean control of the vote by Viet Cong terrorists in the south and by Communist police terrorism in the north.

Other points in the front program call for a host of so-called reforms. Some are so vaguely written as to be unclear.

Americans Jailed For Smuggling At Berlin Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — A Communist court has sentenced two Americans to eight years in prison for trying to smuggle a 13-year-old girl through the Berlin wall to her parents, U.S. officials disclosed today.

The prisoners were identified as Moses R. Herrin, 24, of Akron, Ohio, and Frederick Matthews, 23, of Ellwood City, Pa., both negroes.

They were tried secretly in Potsdam Tuesday and the U.S. Mission in West Berlin received a report on the verdict today. American officials and the Western press were barred from the trial, held in Communist territory.

Herrin and Matthews, both of whom were working as waiters in West Berlin bars, were charged with trying to smuggle the girl into West Berlin in the trunk of an automobile on Sept. 19. They were picked up by Communist guards at the Friedrich Strasse crossing point as they were returning to West Berlin.

The officials said the girls' parents had fled to the west at an earlier date and that Herrin and Matthews undertook to bring their daughter to them.

Pact Ratified At Fisher Body

FLINT (UPI) — Auto workers at the Fisher Body plant here Wednesday ratified a union-management agreement, unofficially ending a 28-day walk-out.

At the adjacent Chevrolet plant, 1,600 workers who had been idled by the strike, were called back to work on truck production pending settlement of the strike.

The strike involved 3,100 workers at the body factory. The local walked out to protest 78 unsettled grievances concerning work standards. The company accused the union of "attempted featherbedding."

Representatives worked out the strike settlement early Wednesday morning and union members voted on the contract later that day.

A General Motors spokesman said the factory and the Chevrolet plant would be back in full production by early today. A union spokesman said a few grievances still were unsettled but would be handled under normal grievance procedures.

The settlement boosted United States car production estimates for the holiday-curtailed week to 150,149, compared with 121,497 in the same week last year.

GROUSE COUNTS

Not too many months ago there appeared in the Press an article concerning the large number of dead grebes that were found on the shores of one of our Great Lakes; the cause of which was believed to be botulism. The Press went on to quote the Conservation Department as saying there were more dead grebes on those shores than they believed existed in the whole United States.

There are a chosen group of people to whom the Conservation Department sends pamphlets—shortly before small game season. In these pamphlets are the statistics on the previous year's kill of small game; the outlook of the current year; what the Department is doing to improve the hunting, etc.

The people who receive these booklets usually spend much time in the field, and are asked to turn into the department reports of the species and number of game they see and kill.

This past Sept. I had the opportunity to read the pamphlet that was published for the coming 1965 season. One paragraph that particularly interested me had to do with the method in which they instructed the man to count grouse. Each time a bird was flushed, it was to be counted as a bird—regardless of how many times he knowingly flushed the same bird. In other words—10 flushes—10 birds.

The two articles I have referred to seem to prove that the methods the Conservation Department use to count game are not practical. Is it any wonder that Sportsmen rebel when the Department says there are so many deer that we should have an "any deer" season; so many grouse, that we need an extended season; so many ducks, that we will have an early duck season?

Editor's note: Dead loons were found in great numbers along Michigan beaches the last few years. Many people were amazed at their numbers because the loon is a summer resident and not commonly seen in Michigan. No attempt has been made to estimate the total loon numbers, but only to assess the numbers of deaths and the possible causes.

The Michigan Department of Conservation cooperates each year with a sizeable number of avid grouse hunters scattered throughout the state in a pre-season grouse count. This is a flushing count, not a population count. Here are the instructions of G. A. Ammann, department game ornithologist, to cooperating sportsmen in a letter of September, 1965:

"Count all flushes this year as if they were different birds, even when you're sure it's the same one. If everyone does this we feel the records will be more consistent and remove all doubt from your minds as to which flushes to count."

The 1964 ruffed grouse "flushed per gun hour by co-operators" (hunters) showed 1 for Menominee county, .93 for Delta, 1.35 for Schoolcraft, .28 for Dickinson, 1.87 for Marquette, 1.77 for Alger, .92 for Mackinac, etc.

Hunters record their hours hunted and the number of birds they flush and the numbers they kill. This survey serves as an indicator of hunting opportunity; it is not a bird census. It only measures trends year-to-year and is added to breed counts, drumming counts and postcard polls of hunters to give the Conservation Department a better picture of game bird numbers and har-

Ann Landers

How To Spot An Alcoholic

Dear Ann Landers: I have a sneaking suspicion that my sister is being turned into an alcoholic by her cheating husband. It breaks my heart to see this once beautiful, gay creature become argumentative and incoherent.

I've discussed the problem with my brother and he says I am worrying needlessly—that Marge likes to get into the sauce a little but she is no alcoholic. Maybe he is right, but I'd appreciate some information to go on.

What are the signs of alcoholism in women? How can one tell? — NEEDING THE FACTS

Dear Needing: One expert, Mrs. Marty Mann, the founder and executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism has produced a list of danger signals for female drinkers. I hope you millions of ladies who consider yourselves "social drinkers" will examine the list carefully. If you see yourself in six or more of these situations you are no social drinker, Dearie.

1. Gubbing drinks.
2. Making promises about drinking—but only to herself.
3. Lying about her drinking—minimizing the number of drinks, or concealing the fact that she has had any drinks at all.

4. Taking a drink before going to a party where liquor will undoubtedly be served.
5. Feeling the necessity of having drinks at a set time every day or night.

6. Needing three or four drinks before she can entertain her husband's boss at dinner.

7. Needing drinks for "nerves" because of a shattering day at the office or a frantic day with the children.

8. Drinking when blue—to forget her worries.

9. Insisting on drinks as part of any special event—concert, baseball game or even a Sunday lull through the woods.

Mrs. Mann also says that most alcoholic women start drinking later in life than men. For a man, 10 years of excessive drinking is enough to bring him to the early stages of alcoholism. For a woman, it takes much less time. She fawns and yearnings among leg slip over the line a lot faster.

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago a good friend of mine was in a spot and needed a baby-sitter. I offered to loan her the girl who sits for me.

I am now kicking myself for being so big-hearted. Twice last week when I wanted my sister I wasn't able to get her. She had already committed herself to this friend. Now I am angry. Last night I telephoned the sitter and asked for two up-coming Saturdays. I was told that my "friend" had booked her for the next three Saturdays.

It seems to me that before this woman tied up my sitter she should have telephoned me and asked if I needed her. I would not dream of engaging another person's sitter without first checking to learn if that person was planning to use her. Am I unreasonable? — SITTERLESS

Dear Sitterless: You talk about sitters as if they were not human beings, but property.

A sitter has a right to say yes to the first person who calls. If you want to insure yourself of the girl's services, line her up well in advance—which is what your friend is doing. And your friend is not obliged to call you first to clear the deal.

Kill Down

Almost complete figures on Wisconsin's 1965 deer hunt show 98,873 legal animals taken home by sportsmen during the firearms season. Data from the northwest area, in the snow belt of the Lake Superior watershed, show an apparent reduction of up to 30 per cent in fawns and yearlings among legal deer registered. Blame for the drop goes to winter losses, both actual deer starvation and a reduction in breeding success.

Tons Of Twine Saved In Ball

HUNTSVILLE, Mo. (UPI) — Terrill Mayo has been collecting string for eight years and what does he have to show for it? A 2,400 pound ball of string.

Mayo started winding by hand, but gave up this method because of the ball's weight; after it reached 50 pounds. He built a machine with electric motors to take over the painstaking twin winding task.

The electric motors turn the rollers, causing the ball to rotate. Mayo uses a leather hand protector while feeding the string to the rotating ball.

Mayo's ball of twine is nearly six feet in diameter, and he figures the ball contains approximately 3,260 million feet of 24-strand string.

His hobby got around town, thus neighbors also saved string for him, most in 10 and 12-foot lengths.

Mayo's electric winding machine once had one motor. But at 1,000 pounds of twine in a ball, Mayo had to add a second motor, and the string had to be doubled to roll it on the ball because of increased tension.

At 2,000 pounds, Mayo added a third motor.

Before he's through winding, Mayo said he hopes to add about 1,500 more pounds of string to the ball. That will give him a ball of twine 3,900 pounds in weight.

Mayo has been quoted in the past as saying "I'm trying to get enough string to launch a kite to the moon."

Other than that, Mayo isn't telling what he plans to do with the weighty ball of twine.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The Voodoo man reveals his power is a ring on his toe. He discovers that Mr. D and the boy are not really Santa and the Princess.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN THE X MARK

Santa and the Princess were hiding under a tin washtub in the palace kitchen. They heard the Voodoo man running through the palace hunting for them, and they knew he had discovered who Mr. D and the little boy really were.

"He'll find us!" whispered the Princess. "We can't stay here!"

It was true they couldn't stay there, but they didn't dare come out from under the tub. They did the only thing they could think of. They started crawling out of the room inside the washtub.

At the moment the Voodoo man came into the kitchen. He stared at the crawling washtub in amazement. Then he beamed with pleasure, for he knew what made the tub move.

He took a mighty swing with his right foot and sent the tin tub high in the air and skittering against the ceiling. On the floor sat Santa and the Princess. Helpless.

But the Voodoo man gave a howl of pain and fell over in a faint. He had forgotten that his shoe was off. The mighty kick had smashed the toe that wore the secret ring of woven hair.

Mr. D and the little boy crept into the kitchen. When they saw what had happened Mr. D cried, "The ring is his secret power. Take it off quickly!"

But the Voodoo man's toe had swelled to the size of an orange and no power on earth could pull the ring over the bulge.

The Princess snatched a pair of scissors from the pantry shelf and tried to cut the ring. But the hairs from the beard of a ghou were hairs of steel and cannot be cut.

Then Mr. D said, "Cut off his toe!"

But witches and fairies and elves and Voodoo men are not like ordinary folk. They cannot be cut up or killed like mortals. They can only be destroyed by spells whose magic is stronger than their own.

Twisting the ring on his toe, the Voodoo man screamed his curse.

Santa knew this, and the Princess knew it. Santa said sadly, "The ring is there to stay."

At these words the Voodoo man recovered his senses and Santa and the Princess fled from his sight.

But the Voodoo man did not give chase. He had other plans. Hopping on one foot he passed down the corridors of the palace. He entered every room and twisting the woven ring on his toe he said these words:

"Whatever creature from the non-mortal world enters this room hereafter will turn into a rug and will carpet this floor forevermore."

As he left each room he took a piece of chalk and drew a huge X on the door to show he had been there and left his curse.

Mr. D and the little boy watched in horror. They knew that even if Santa and the Princess had gone out of the palace they would come back after the Voodoo man had left, and they would come back after the Voodoo man had left, and they would become carpets in the golden castle.

Then Mr. D got an idea. It was so big it made him shiver all over.

He pushed the astonished lit-

Welsh To Help Michigan Amish

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) —

A former Michigan lieutenant governor has launched what he hopes will develop into a nationwide campaign to support the Amish in the United States.

George W. Welsh, also a former mayor of Grand Rapids and head of a printing and publishing company here, has been campaigning on behalf of the Amish in Michigan and elsewhere. Wednesday he wired Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa about the situation there. Welsh suggested Hughes "remove from office those thoughtless officials who have brazenly defied a plain mandate of our Bill of Rights."

Welsh referred to the six Amish farmers in Iowa who were fined $1,511 for refusing to send their children to accredited Iowa public schools at Independence. An anonymous donor paid the fines.

In his telegram to Gov. Hughes, Welsh said, "In this nation, cursed with crime and corruption, it is an ironic travesty that we approach the observance of the birth of Christ by prosecuting industrious, God-fearing Amish farmers, thus making them the modern Christian martyrs."

Welsh said he has invited interested citizens to join him in creating a national committee for observance and enforcement of the Bill of Rights and "for the protection of such as these defenseless Amish farmers."

Latvian Pirags Are Holiday Speciality

By MRS. ALBERT WELDUM
"Pirags"

Pirags are Latvian buns filled with meat, or fish and then baked. Any left over meat or fish, combined with chopped onion and spices to taste, may be used for filling. However for special occasions, especially for the holidays, picnic ham is tastier. The dough is made richer also.

I usually use a sweet refrigerator yeast roll recipe for the dough. While the dough is rising, I cut up picnic ham in small pieces, add lots of chopped onion, some salt and pepper, and if the filling seems dry, add a little milk or cream, to make it more moist.

When the dough has risen, I take a chunk of dough, cut it into pieces that will spread to about 4 in. in diameter, 1/4 in. thick. Put about 1 heaping tsp. of fill in one half of dough, fold over other half and press edges shut tightly. Roll bun around so it becomes elongated. Place on greased pan, leaving small space between each to make room for rising. After slightly raised, brush tops with some glaze, prick top with a fork, and bake about 20-25 min., at 375 degrees F. If there is any dough left, it may be made into sweet rolls.

For Christmas they are usually made very small and curved when placed on a pan so they look crescent shaped. They make a very good Sunday morning breakfast if warmed in oven and served with coffee.

Latvian Sweet-Sour Rye Bread
Mrs. Theodore Black, who lives out Osier way, was busy making rye bread before Christmas weekend. She says she makes it by "ear" but this time she tried to put down the measured ingredients.

Take 7 cups of rye flour, pour boiling water over it and mix continually until it is the consistency of thick paste. In the meantime, while it is cooling to lukewarm, take three packages of yeast and put in a qt. of lukewarm water. This liquid is what determines the amount of bread you will get as more liquid cannot be added the next morning.

When rye mixture is lukewarm, put in yeast mixture and 2 cups of sugar. Beat until well mixed. Mixture will be quite thin. Sift an inch of white flour over the top, cover and let rise in a warm place until morning. The container should be quite large, she uses a dishpan. In the old country, wooden containers were made especially for making this bread.

Next morning, add 1/2 cup salt and 3 cups sugar and enough white flour to make a stiff dough, kneading it until it starts to come off the hands, about 1/2 hr. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 1 1/2 hr. Divide and put on greased pans, smoothing and rounding the top with a hand dipped in cold water, to prevent sticking to hands.

She uses 4 large cake pans, 9 by 12 in. Let rise again until double in size, about 1 hr. Bake for 1 hr. in 375 degree F., reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 30 more minutes.

After taking from oven, to prevent from falling, do not jar or take from pan. Wet top with water and cover with cloth. After about half an hour, take from pan, place on bread board to cool, but keep covered with cloth until cool.

Do not use pumpernickel rye unless you like a bitter taste.

This bread is made year round and to give it a better flavor, take about a cup of bread dough to be used as a starter for the next batch. Put the bread dough in a qt. jar and set it on the shelf. After it has fermented, close the cover, it will keep until needed. When it is time to bake again, add 2 packs of yeast and fill jar with lukewarm water, and this is the yeast mixture, which gives the unusual flavoring to this rye bread. It is a moist bread, and there is nothing better than butter on warm bread with coffee or milk.

"Finnish Limpa Bread"

The Finnish people are noted for their Limpa bread and for the holidays, they like to make a special Limpa, which is more like a fruit cake. This recipe was submitted by Einar Koski of North Rock. He received it from his mother and does not measure the ingredients. However, he said to be careful not to add too much liquid the night before or one might end up with 29 loaves, like he did the first time he made it. Boil 6 potatoes; when soft, mash them in the water they cooked in. Pour this mixture over a couple of cups of coarse rye meal and mix it in a large bowl. After the mixture is cooled to lukewarm, add some shortening, about a cup of white sugar, a cup of brown sugar, a quart of buttermilk, molasses according to taste and color wanted, a couple of tsp. of anise seed, couple packages of dry or fresh yeast. Let it rise in a warm place.

He likes to set it the night before as this gives it a better flavor. In the morning mix in white flour and knead in the bowl until it does not stick to the hands. Let it rise in a warm place until double in bulk. Grease pans and hands and make round loaves. After they have doubled in size, make a few holes on top with a fork and bake about an hour at 350 degrees F.

OPEN TONIGHT 'TIL 9 FRIDAY 'TIL 5:30

In This Corner

with Ray Crandall

Dear Santa:

We know you're a busy guy this time of year with all the little ones to take care of, but maybe you can find the time to drop off a few gifts for some of the characters we run into on the sports beat. It isn't a long list, Nick, and we'd sure appreciate it a great deal if you would try to fill it. Here goes:

Cassius—Cape with MM initials across chest and beanie with small pointed ears to wear during his Mighty Mouth act.

Lombardi—New NFL rule book that says you can advance ball after recovering fumbled lateral that has hit ground.

Harold Johnson—Eraser to wipe out the memory of first half in game against Stephenson last week.

Butrymowicz—V-I-C-T-O-R-Y.

Ernie Terrell—Gun. It might even the odds a little in his coming "fight" with Clay.

Lions—New head to screw on Joe Don Looney's shoulders. One that doesn't ache.

Frank Miketina—Junior varsity football Coach of Year trophy.

Cvengros—Football doll. When you wind it up and it plays like All-State star Steve Oman.

Spar's dartball team—Bigger board.

Pete Korntved—Horseshoe headgear to wear in family matches.

Readers—Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Bill Wood—Three points. Two for the Munising game and one for the Newberry game to cancel the pair of Great Lakes Conference cage setbacks.

Dick Bonifas—Kiss. For the superb job he has done with the Manistique football players in his 14 years at the post.

Colts—Bad luck.

Hornung—Slap on the wrist for breaking training after big day against Baltimore.

Stephenson coach—Lord have mercy on your basketball foes. Guss, that is.

Seb Rubick—"Instant Mail" from Central League coaches for league statistics.

Rudie Brandstrom—A Y for his first name.

My wife—Goodies. You know, Santa, there's a real doll. When I come home after a frantic day at the desk she has my robe, my slippers, the water warm. She knows how I hate to do the dishes in cold water.

Me—Stocking full of martini.

Your friend,

Ray Crandall

Eagles Pace Cage League

Stephenson and Menominee players dominate the individual statistics in the Great Northern basketball conference, announced today by Ken Peterson of Escanaba.

Stephenson, leading the league with a 4-0 record, has a pair of classy guards who are setting the conference pace in several categories.

Dave Bush shares the scoring lead with Jim Uecke of Menominee and is the most accurate free throw shooter in the loop. Bob Mellinger leads the league.

County Board Has Deficit

News of an estimated deficit of $22,600 at the end of the year was received by the Schoolcraft Board of Supervisors Tuesday night.

The deficit includes $1100 voted to the airport reserve and operating funds and $21,500 supplemental appropriations for welfare.

Estimated revenues for the year were $211,000 and included a jail reserve fund of $5300 transferred to the general fund.

Also put in the general fund and used were $5327 from the tax writing equipment fund, $3500 from sale of property to Lakeland Pipeline Co. and $3,000 from sale of Cloverland Lodge.

County treasurer William Cowman, in presenting the report, suggested the board must find additional revenues or hold its spending to what it has. Possibility of a one-mill levy submitted to voter approval or going to an 18-mill instead of 15-mill limitation was discussed but no action taken.

Future Better

The county began the year with a deficit of $6811. In 1963, the deficit was $14,000; in 1962, $17,000 in 1961, $14,500; in 1960, $9,500.

The budget last year was $203,965. Welfare expenditures from it totaled a net of $60,000 as compared with $68,000 this year. Welfare appropriations were $53,940 in 1963; $53,476 in 1962, $61,200 in 1961 and $52,400 in 1960.

Walter Minor, welfare director reported medicare, a new regulation under which counties will spend only one mill of state equalized valuation, and savings from the medical care facility will improve the welfare cost picture in the future.

Administrative and direct relief costs have been pared, he said, but hospitalization rose from $70,000 in 1963 to $82,000 in 1964 and $132,000 this year.

The board asked Minor to contact the state welfare department, suggesting that persons laid off not be granted welfare if they move from an area where employment is available to one where it isn't.

Economic Act

The county has a few cases where people come from other areas and apply for welfare, which they can receive anywhere in the state. Also, he noted, he is not permitted to decline welfare to cases where high earnings of previous months were inordinately spent, as the department has ruled it can not tell a person how to spend his money when he is not receiving aid. The total earnings per year qualification regulation applies to surplus funds, he said.

Preliminary sketches for the medical care facility were presented to the board. A meeting is scheduled Dec. 28 with the hospital board and welfare board and county board welfare unit regarding purchase of diet and other services from the hospital for the facility. Minor said he had been to Lansing to confer with Joseph Homings of the State Department of Health on the plans. A meeting also is scheduled with the health committee on plans for offices for the health department in the facility.

Application asking re-designation of the county under the Public Works Economic Act, under terms of new legislation, has been approved by the county board. This is necessary for government units or private organizations to obtain assistance from the government, such as that under the former ARA.

S. Viet Nam

Veteran burial allowances were approved from Jerry Vickery and Orpha LaMuth, a report was received from Leonard Walters on award of a 4-H recognition plaque to the county board, and fund transfers were approved.

A request was received from Joel Carley of Inwood Township to disapprove a proposal of the U.S. Forest Service to obtain 150 acres in the former C. E. Good holdings, between Pete's Lake and Grass Lake.

A resolution was adopted supporting government policy in S. Viet Nam.

Plans were made for attendance of supervisors at the State Assn. meeting in Lansing Jan. 16-19.

Landley Frenette, chairman of the Small Business Development Corp. in Schoolcraft County announced Tuesday night he is resigning as chairman and a meeting will be held by the local committee in January to pick a new chairman. Traffic Deaths Over Christmas May Reach 600

By United Press International
Millions of Americans prepared today for the start of the Christmas holidays. Homeward-bound travelers teemed through airports and bus terminals. Churches scheduled special services for Christmas Eve.

The National Safety Council said nearly all of the nation's 100 million motor vehicles will take to the highway during the holiday period.

The holiday period begins at 6 p.m. local time today and extends to midnight Sunday.

The council predicted between 500 and 600 persons would be killed in traffic accidents during the period, traditionally the most dangerous of the year. As many as 31,000 persons may suffer disabling injuries in traffic accidents, it said.

Worst In 1956
The worst holiday on record was the four-day "Black Christmas" of 1956 when 706 persons died on the nation's highways. Last year's three-day Christmas holiday claimed 596 lives.

Greyhound bus lines said it expected a holiday travel volume unequalled since World War II. Railroads and airlines joined in predicting passenger volume from 13 to 30 per cent above last Christmas. In many states, special police squads were beefed up to handle highway traffic.

Christmas observances were highly varied across the nation from Pasadena, Calif., where Michigan State halfback Don Japenga sat on Santa's knee and asked for victory in the Rose Bowl, to northern New England, where deep snow and cold temperatures produced frosty picture-postcard scenes.

In Chicago, professional baseball and football stars visited veterans hospitals and handed out gifts to bed-ridden veterans. The First Presbyterian Church at Huntington, W.Va., was turned into a miniature United Nations for about 175 foreign college students making it a home away from home for the holidays.

Festive, But Empty
In Washington, the White House was fully decorated with holly and a tree in the East Room and the nation's official Christmas tree shining brightly on the White House lawn. President Johnson and his family were at the Texas Ranch for the holidays.

Last minute Christmas shoppers continued to clog department stores across the country and the Post Office reported Christmas mail continuing at a record pace.

For one prisoner at the county jail in El Paso, Tex., however, Christmas won't be the answer to his dreams. The prisoner sent a note to Santa asking for three quarts of bourbon, two quarts of cherry liqueur, two quarts of rum, two large pizzas, two cases of beer, 35 hacksaw blades and a three-day pass from the jailhouse. "Ho ho ho," said Sheriff Mike Sullivan.

Water Problem Report Given

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney has announced receipt of a 14-point interim report by his task force on water rights, use and pollution control.

The 21-member task force's recommendations include proposals for state financial aid to both communities and industry in the battle against water pollution, plus more inter-community cooperation in planning for water uses.

"These recommendations will receive the most careful consideration in preparation of budget and other programs for 1966, especially those recommendations definitely requiring legislative action," Romney said.

The committee also proposed more funds for research into use and maintenance of water resources, and creation of a special standing legislative committee on water resources.

Other proposals included:

- Vigorous enforcement of anti-litter laws.
- New statutes governing inland lake management.
- A public education program on water problems.
- That the state accept responsibility for obsolete power dams and reservoirs.
- Stricter controls to protect flowing artesian water sources.

Natchez, Miss. Klan In Clash

NATCHEZ, Miss. (UPI) — Highway patrolmen reinforced city police in this Mississippi River city today where a sudden outbreak of street clashes ended an uneasy racial truce.

At least 20 state highway patrol cars patrolled almost deserted streets early today in the aftermath of a series of clashes between Negroes, whites and police Wednesday.

There were unofficial reports that several persons were injured in the clashes that apparently started in a clash between Negro pickets and a group of whites. However, a check of hospitals failed to turn up any instances of hospitalization.

City officials, including Police Chief J. T. Robinson, made no immediate comment.

Charles Evers, state field director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said: "Three of four people have gotten cut up pretty bad."

Evers, who led a boycott here in late summer and fall that resulted in what he termed the biggest concessions ever won by Negroes from whites in Mississippi, said that he was able to get a crowd of several hundred Negroes inside a church and away from the downtown area to halt the clashes.

Even then, he said, angry whites, whom he identified as Ku Klux Klansmen, drove by the church stoning parked cars and drawing guns.

Humphrey's Top Aide Quitting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today confirmed that one of his top aides is quitting, adding to speculation about official concern over the vice presidential "image."

In a brief statement released by his office, Humphrey said Robert C. Jensen, his press secretary for nearly two years, was on a leave of absence and would not be back. Humphrey noted the departure "with regrets."

The vice president said Norman Sherman, now an assistant on his staff, would take over Jensen's duties without the title. Sherman served as an aide to Minnesota Gov. Karl E. Rolvaag before joining Humphrey's staff in 1963.

There had been some indications of differences between Jensen, a veteran newsman, and other Humphrey aides about the "image" the vice president should be projecting as a public figure. Neither Jensen or Humphrey's office would give a reason for his departure.

Woman Injured In Car Mishap

Virginia Brewer, 75, of Hermansville, was hospitalized Wednesday after a two-car accident on U.S. 2 and 41 west of Escanaba at 7:55 p. m. She was reported in "good" condition this morning.

Delta County Sheriff's officers said she was a passenger in a car driven by her son, the Rev. Gervase J. Brewer of St. Celia Parish, Hubble, Mich. Officers said Fr. Brewer's car collided with a car driven by Raymond Mott, Rte. 2, Bark River, after Mott attempted to pull his car into the west-bound lane of traffic after it had stalled.

Fr. Brewer told officers he was blinded by lights of an oncoming car and failed to see the Mott vehicle in time to stop.

Mayor Named UPCAP Director Of Loan Program

Appointment of Escanaba Mayor George E. Rusch as coordinator of the Small Business Development Program in the Upper Peninsula by the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress was announced today by UPCAP Chairman Harold L. Dettman of St. Ignace.

Dettman also announced that the UPCAP executive committee had arranged for the services of Joseph V. Tuma, consultant to the Michigan Office of Economic Opportunity, to serve as acting director of UPCAP. Tuma is now in Escanaba. He went to the Michigan OEO from the United Auto Workers Union.

Dettman said that Rusch would take over his new duties shortly after the first of the year when he terminates his present employment as head of the Industrial Engineering and Analysis Division at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

Rusch has had broad experience in business accounting, marketing, production and engineering, said Dettman and the UPCAP committee selected to make the appointment of the coordinator determined that he has the qualifications necessary for the success of the program. It reviewed several applications for the office, which will direct the Small Business Development Center program in the U. P.

Rusch is a member of the Escanaba City Council and the Delta County Board of Supervisors. His appointment has been confirmed by the executive committee of UPCAP, whose members are: Dettman, Lynn Sandberg, L'Anse, vice-chairman; Fred Hahne, Manistique, treasurer; Harold Vanlerberghe, Escanaba, acting secretary, and Mrs. Michael DeFaut, Marquette, acting director.

Rusch will be assisted in his duties as coordinator of the SBDC Committee by several Members exchanged gifts and were served lunch from a buffet table decorated in the holiday motif. The bureau will meet in January.

Holland Feed Store Burned

HOLLAND (UPI) — Fast-spreading flames, given impetus by vitamin-filled piles of sacked feed stocks, roared through the Charles Bouman Co. early today and caused damage estimated at $200,000 before firemen brought the stubborn blaze under control.

Several firemen were overcome by smoke and fumes, which were flavored by burning feed and cheese products and vitamin D feeds, but were given first aid at the scene.

W. B. Baker, vice president of the company, who estimated the damage, said it was believed an electrical shortage in the basement started the fire.

A brick wall which adjoined the Albers Co. next door handicapped firemen in their fight against the blaze and gave them access to the flames from one direction only.

The fire was concentrated in the basement and first floor of the two-story building in downtown Holland. Part of the building was leased to Steketee Van Huis Printing Co. whose storage stocks also were lost in the fire. A passerby discovered the blaze, which started about midnight, and it took several hours to bring the fire under control.

Fill That Tank Before Saturday

DETROIT (UPI) — Michigan motorists should plan to start Christmas day with a full gas tank, the Automobile Club of Michigan warned today.

"Approximately 90 per cent of the gas stations across the state will be closed Christmas Day," Jerry E. Fisher, the club's touring manager, said. "On Dec. 26, about half the state's service stations will be closed."

Fisher said the Christmas closings will make Saturday the most difficult day to buy gasoline since World War II rationing started.

Mother-To-Be Finds Friend In Salvation Army

"The Salvation Army is always there. You can depend on them," said the officer.

This is a different kind of Christmas story, a story of unhappiness and grief at a season often called the happiest of the year. Yet because of the Salvation Army the story does have a happier ending.

A telephone call about 10 last night brought the case to the attention of the Escanaba police department.

The situation was not an unfamiliar one to officers who are called upon to help in many emergencies.

The subject was a young woman, 18, who told police she had been deserted by her husband. She had neither a home nor money. She was going to have a baby — in fact she thought she was a couple weeks over-due.

Other persons who might have helped her didn't want "to get involved."

Because they knew from experience that the Salvation Army would help without delay, police called Capt. Orville Butts.

He made arrangements for the young woman to stay at an Escanaba hotel and told her to telephone "at any time" if she needed to go to the hospital.

"We have these cases every couple of months and right now another girl is staying with us and we didn't have room for her with our family," said Mrs. Butts. "That's why we had her stay at the hotel."

The telephone call came at 4 a. m. today. Capt. Butts took the girl to the hospital — and waited. While he waited he visited the sick he knew there. The baby was slow in coming, and so he returned home to begin a busy day that included preparations for the annual distribution of Christmas baskets to the needy.

A call to Capt. Butts for developments in the situation at 11 a. m. today brought from Mrs. Butts the response: "The Captain is out getting bread for our baskets."

At St. Francis Hospital the baby had not yet been born shortly before noon.

"She is in labor and the baby is expected today," was the report.

Give A Hooray For Santa LBJ

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — I always say that Christmas isn't complete without a lot of bad poetry.
If the verses on Christmas cards have left you unfulfilled, try this one on for size:
'Twas the night before Christmas

And up in the sleigh
In place of old Santa
Rode old LBJ.
And hitched to the reins . . .
No. Wait just a minute . . .
Those aren't reindeer he's driving.
It's the House and the Senate.
"On, Mansfield! On, Dirksen!"
"On, Fulbright and Fong!"
"On, McCormack! On, Muskie!

"On, Talmadge and Long!"
"Piled high in the back
"Of this wondrous sleigh
"Is a sack full of goodies
"For the whole U.S.A.
"On, Sparkman! On, Javits
"On, Jackson and Pell
"On, Douglas On, Proxmire
"On, Bass, Boggs and Bell!"
Equal job rights for mommy.
A tax cut for dad.
Medicare for old granny.
And there's more to be had.
"On, Hartke! On, Hayden!"
"On, Dodd and McGee!"
"On, Cotton! On, Cooper!"
"On, Bob Kennedy!"

Homeless Girl Gives Birth To Baby Son

The young woman whose plight brought her the help of the Salvation Army when she appealed to police in Escanaba Wednesday night is facing into the holidays and the new year with renewed courage, authorities report.
She asked police for aid because she was without funds, was homeless, had been deserted by her husband, and was soon to have a baby.
Capt. Orville Butts and Mrs. Butts of the Salvation Army in Escanaba found a place for her to stay in a hotel and asked her to call if she needed further assistance. She called them in the early morning, was taken to St. Francis Hospital and her baby—a son—was born shortly before noon Thursday.
The 18-year-old mother and her baby are doing fine, according to reports.
